THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXII ATLANTA, GA., TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 23, 1890

DEFEATED AGAIN.

THE REPUBLICANS FAIL TO GET A

AND ANOTHER DAY GOES BY THEM. Mr. Reed Worsted-The Republican Caucu Does Some Lively Kicking-Reed Given One More Day.

WASHINGTON, September 22.—[Special.]— The republicans again failed to get a quorum today, and again withdrew from the field by adjourning the house shortly after 1 o'clock. Reed counted 164 members present on the first roll call, but that number failed to materialize on the second, and the big man gave it up. He, however, immediately called a caucus and attempted to get his men to stick together until a quorum could be secured. The rank and file, however, do not like the proceedings, and protested vigorously at the delay to other legislation by this fight. Billy Mason led the opposition to Reed. He secured the floor and made a ringing speech in opposition to con-tinuing the fight.

THE SENSATION HE CREATED. He created somewhat of a sensation by say ing that, "Considering the fact that the negro was not elected anyhow, I think we have done enough for him. I think this thing ought to stop, and we should transact some business." No one in the caucus contended with him in his assertion that the negro was not elected. It was the fact that he opposed Reed that created the sensation. The republicans, like the democrats, know that the negro Langston was not elected, but they think it necessary to seat him to keep the negroes in the republican ranks, and then it gives them one more majority in the house. The reason, however, why Reed does not want to give up the fight is because by so doing it will be for him a square defeat, and will materially injure his chances for the presidential nomination in 1892.

GIVEN ONE DAY MORE. After the caucus this afternoon, which was very stormy, Reed said he would have a quorum here tomorrow, and would then unseat Mr. Venable. In the caucus he promised if he did not whip fight tomorrow to give it up. Without this promise he never could have secured the promises of the republicans who are already here, to remain over tomorrow. As it is, many of them are decidedly discontented, and quite a crowd, headed by Mason and Payson, say they will leave Washington tomorrow night, to enter the campaigns in their respective states. Thus, if Tom Reed fails to get a quorum tomorrow, he will be lost. The house will proceed on other business, and continue on it until adjournment. If Mr. Venable is unseated, this session, it will be tomorrow.

JUDGE CRISP UNWELL. Judge Crisp has been quite unwell for two days, and could not go to the house today, consequently Mr. O'Ferrall was the only democrat on guard. However, tomorrow the Georgian hopes to be able to attend, and drive back the republicans in their attempt to steal a democratic seat for the purpose of admitting a negro.

THE GAG RULES WON'T WORK

The successful filibuster the democrats have made against the unseating of Mr. Venable for a week past has shown that Reed's gag rules, which at the beginning of the sessi were guaranteed to cure and prevent filibustering, are remedies in no sense of the word. It was to hasten legislation and prevent filibustering that they were drawn. For that purpose they have been proven absolutely worthless, and Reed's claim is shattered. Again when Reed took the gavel and gave ou his rules he promised an adjournment in June, yet here it is three months after date, and the mise has not been redeemed. Indeed, neither Reed nor his rules have done what was expected of them, and the republicans are becoming dissatisfied with their speaker. Under the old rules many of them say business would have progressed just as rapidly, and mocrats attempted the same tactics they are now pursuing, perhaps the force bill would never have passed the house. The democrats will try these tactics on the force bill if it passes the senate, and comes back to the house next session. THE LOTTERY LAW. The lottery law, which recently received the president's signature, has gone into effect. The law provides that no papers containing a lottery advertisement shall be distributed through the mails. The law also excludes any lottery company, or agent of any lottery com-pany, from the use of the mails for registered letters, or any other purpose. Yesterday the postoffice here refused to accept for mailing The Sunday Chronicle, a weekly newspaper published here. The postmaster general has issued orders to all postmasters to refuse to accept in the mails any newspapers containing lottery advertisements in any shape. Thu the papers that want to print lottery advertisements will have to print two editions one without the advertisement for their cont-of-town subscribers, and another with the lottery advertisement for their subscribers who receive their papers by carrier. The talk of this law breaking up the Louisiana lottery is all bosh. They wil receive money for tickets by express, and will advertise their drawings in all the city editions treaty provides that Canadian papers, it mat-ters not what they contain, can be sent through the United State mails, and it is said here that the lottery has made a contract with a Toronto paper to print their advertisements and drawings and mail papers all over this country to be distributed free, especially those containing the drawings. The lottery representatives here say the bill is unconstitutional, and it is understood a test case will be made at once. It will probably be made special by the next house as has been expected.

A month ago it was predicted in many quarters that the alliance membership of the next house would not be less than thirty, and some put it as high as forty. It is, however, far from it. There will be but fourteen alliance men, that is, alliancemen who have endorsed the subtreasury bill, in the next house. Of this fourteen, five come from Georgia, one from Alabama, three from Mississippi, four from North Carolina and one from South Carolina. Of the fourteen two are old members who will be returned. The first is Mr. Turpin, of Alabama, who was unseated by the republican house, but who will be elected to the next. The other old member is Colonel Clark Lewis, of Mississippi, who is a farmer and an allianceman. The twelve new alliancemen nominated

REED'S GAME BLOCKED.

The Democrats Keep a Quorum from Showing Up.

WASHINGTON, September 22.—Messsr.
O'Ferrall, of Virginia, and Smith, of Arizona, were the only democrats in the hall when the house was called to order this morning.

At the conclusion of prayer, the clerk (under direction of the speaker) proceeded to call the roll on the approval of Friday's journal. The vote resulted. yeas 153, nays 0-no quorum-and a call of the house was ordered. One hundred and fifty-nine members res

One hundred and fifty-nine members responded to their names—still no quorum.

The republican absencess were Messrs.
Brosius, Sansbrough, McCormick, T. M.
Brown, of Indiana, Butterworth, Connell, Ewart, Finley, Milliken, Peters, Sweney and Wilson, of Kentucky.

Mr. McKinley moved an adjournment, but there were a number of republican members who were in favor of remaining in session (it being understood that Messrs. Brosius, McCormick, Butterworth and Sweney will return this afternoon) and who demanded and secured the yeas and nays. The motion was carried—yeas 85, nays 70, and a republican caucus was announced to be held immediately.

Proceedings of the Senate. Washington, September 22.—The joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States in relation to the manufacture, importation and sale of alcoholic liquors, having been reached on the cal-endar, Mr. Blair, who had reported it from the committee on education and labor, called for s vote upon it. Mr. Cockrell asked that the report be While the report was being read, Mr. Stewart suggested that the reading would occupy too much time; but Mr. Blair thought the senate might well devote a short time to a subject that was not to be trifled with. The reading of the report having occupied what was left of the hour assigned to the calendar, no vote was taken on the joint resolu-

The senate then resumed consideration of the bill to define and regulate the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States, the pending question being on Mr. Daniel's amendment offered last Saturday, extending the jurisdic-tion of the supreme court to all cases of conviction of felony and to all cases where the matter in dispute is right to personal liberty or right to the custody of a child.

After an argument by Mr. Evarts against the amendment, Mr. Vest offered a substitute for the bill. It proposes that there shall be three divisions of the supreme court, to be composed of three justices each, that the chief justice shall make assignments to the divisions; that all final decisions in either of those divisions shall be considered by the

of those divisions shall be considered by the court in bane, and shall require the concurrence of five justices; and that the chief justice shall apportion the business to those divisions.

Mr. Vest said that his object in offering the amendment was to formulate and put on record the opinions of the minority of the judiciary committee on the question, rather than with the view of obtaining the legislation expressed in the amendment. Vacant seats in the senate chamber evidenced, he said, how little interest was felt generally in the question, although it was one of the most important questions to the people that could be contemplated by any lawyer or citizen.

After a discussion between Messrs. Vest and Evarts, the Daniel's amendment was rejected.

Mr. Vest did not insist on the vote being taken on his amendment, and the bill was then reported from the committee of the whole to the senate.

Mr. Dolph offered an amendment providing

Mr. Dolph offered an amendment providing for a tenth judicial circuit, and the appointment of two judges for it.

Mr. Ingalls offered an amendment of which he had heretofore given inotice, dividing the judicial districts of the United States into eleven circuits, and the vice president ruled that that amendment took precedence of the one proposed by Mr. Dolph. From this ruling Mr. Dolph appealed, and Mr. Hale moved to lay the appeal on the table. The latter motion was agreed to. Yeas, 28; nays, 17.

The Ingalls amendment being thus before the senate he modified it at the suggestion of Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, by omitting the state of Iowa from the eighth circuit and adding it to the ninth. The amendment, however, was rejected.

Mr. Vest offered his amendment for the di vision of the supreme court into three parts. It was also rejected. Mr. Gorman moved to designate Balti-more (instead of Richmond) as the place for holding court in the fourth circuit.

EX-SENATOR NORWOOD.

What He Thinks About Gordon's Answer

His Letter. SAVANNAH, September 22 .- [Special.]-Mr. Norwood came in from his Liberty county farm this morning, and when Governor Gordon's decision not to reply was mentioned to him, he said: "I am sorry, but I think it very likely that before he gets through with his campaign, there will be some men in his audiences who will have the manhood to rise and ask him to answer."

Mr. Norwood's mail keeps growing heavier and letters are pouring into him from all over the state and from other states, too. The assurances of support come from men who are strong in their sections, and in many cases from parties Mr. Norwood would not have expected aid from. He has an invitation to speak at Gainesville, where Governor Gordon was a few days ago; in McDonough and in Taliaferre, where the governor will be this week. But he has not accepted any of the invitations.

The Iron Men Not Satisfied. Washington, September 22.—It is intimated that the metal schedule is the bone of contention. The report is carrent this morning that the iron and steel men are not satisfied with the concession made by the senate conferees, and are demanding a restoration of the rates fixed by the house. They are threatening, it is said, that if their demands are not granted to defeat the bill. Northwestern senators interested in free binding twine are using their influence with the conferees to prevent the agreement to place a duty of 1 cent per pound on that article. Some of the interviews between the conferees and these senators have been quite animated.

Posth of an Ex-Congressman.

Death of an Ex-Congressman.

Washington, September 22.—Ex-Congress man Frank L. Morey, of Louisiana, died in this city this morning of malarial troubles contracted, it is believed, during the time of the recent heavy floods in Louisiana, when his plantation was inundated, combined with brain affection, were the causes of his death.

A Chicago Bank Suspends.

CHICAGO, September 22.—The Oakland bank, situated at the corner of Cottage Grove avenue and Oakwood boulevard, suspended payment this morning, an assignment having been made to William L. Moss. The liabilities are stated to be $60,000; nominal assets, $75,000.

CHICAGO IS HAPPY

BECAUSE THE VEXED QUESTION OF THE WORLD'S FAIR SITE

IS SATISFACTORILY SETTLED AT LAST The South Park Commissioners Tender Their Grounds—The Offer Accepted, and There Is Great Jollification.

CHICAGO, September 22.—A committee from the local world's fair directory waited on the South Park commissioners this morning and laid before them the report of the national commission that Washington park be included in the site for the fair. After some discussion the South Park commissioners decided to accede to the request of the national commis-sion. So the vexed question of a satisfactory site is at last settled.

At the afternoon session of the national committee the amended site proposition was presented and unanimously accepted. The site thus provided for includes Washington and Jackson parks, Midway Plaisance connect ing them and the lake front, in all about 1,000

In a sense, the chosen site is one great unit, comprising as it does the entire South park system of Chicago. There are three separate park systems in the city—north, west and south, each magnificent, but beyond question the finest is that stretch in a superb vista from the heart of the city south. The enthusiasm with which the tender was received by the national commission showed in mixed contrast with the reception of the previous propositions.

By a resolution adopted early in the day, the national commission had formally pledged itself to regard the offer of such a site as the "final settlement of all questions relating to the question of sites," and when the park commissioners promptly responded, and the exact location of the big exposition was at last finally fixed there was an instant onlysts of exact location of the big exposition was at last finally fixed, there was an instant outburst of cheers, in which the directors; commissioners and spectators joined with a vim.

Stepping from the doors of the city's rall-road depots, hotels and business houses, visitors to the world's fair will, as it were, enter directly the vestibule of the exposition on the lake front. This "lake front" is a park comprising sixty acres, upon one side of which the shadow of the massive tower of the "auditorium" falls daily, while upon the other side ripple the clear waters of Lake Michigan leading from Lake Front park. The finest boulevard of the city goes directly with the latter is Midway Piaisance, which ends in Jackson park.

latter is Midway Plaisance, which ends in Jackson park.

Like the lake front, one side of Jackson park is washed by the waves of the lake. The greater portion of the site is one vast work of pleasure drives, enclosing great stretches of omerald meadow and groves of sturdy oak.

Adjoining Washington park is a race track capable of accommodating 50,000 people, and this the local directory expect to take partialso of the speed's display and live stock show. This improved race track with the live stock show will be made with one hundred yards of point selected for the main building, thus placing the whole fair in one compact quarter of the city, including the government display, and displays to be made to Go Into Effect. JACKSON, Miss., September 22.-The consti tutional convention was engaged all day in the consideration of the report of the committee of the whole on the election franchise. Considerable progress was made, and the report No amendments to the committee's report have thus far prevailed, but Chairman Patty, of the franchise committee, announced today that the committee agreed to accept Judge Taylor's amendment to strike out "1896" and substitute "1892" in section 5, which now reads On and after the first day of January, 1892, the following qualifications are added to the forego-ing: "Every qualified elector shall be able to read any section of the constitution of this state, or he shall be able to understand the same when read to him or give a reasonable interpretation thereof. There being some objection to the commit tee changing its own recommendation so materially, consideration of the section was postponed for the time being, and the remainder of the report taken up.

THE TIME CHANGED For the New Suffrage Law of Mississippi

After this suffrage question is out of the way the committee on education will have the loor upon this subject. There are two conflicting reports with reference to the distribution of school moneys, and a stubborn struggle is anticipated.

BOUCICAULT'S BURIAL.

The Last Saloon Closed

The Last Saloon Closed.

Chicago, September 22.—A dispatch from Kokomo, Ind., says the temperance people of Greentown, a place of 1,500 inhabitants, have finally driven the last saloon from their midst. They have kept up a continual fight for two years. Three weeks ago the only saloon remaining in town was destroyed by dynamite. The owner soon resumed business and was immediately arrested on twelve affidavits and court costs were piled up against him until Saturday, when he surrendered his premises to the sheriff, who closed the saloon.

Four Men Dead.

LAUREL, Miss., September 22.—[Special.]—A saw mill five miles below here exploded her boiler, instantly killing two men and fatally injuring three others, one of whom died last night. The mill was owned by the Kamper Lewin Manufacturing Company, and it is said to be a total wreck.

THE BURCHELL TRIAL. A Bright Day and a Large Crowd in the Courtroom.

Courtroom.

Woodstock, Ont., September 22.—The day of the opening of the Burchell trial broke bright and clear and the people were early astir about the courthouse. Final touches to the arrangements of the courtroom were given by busy officials. Among the preparations showing the greatest enterprise was the telegraph apparatus of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company run into the courtroom with connections to all parts of the world, so that messages can be sent direct from the reporters' tables to any newspapers. One of the public housekeepers in the place had a telephone just above the judge's bench connected with twenty instruments in his own place, so that the people there might hear the evidence as it progressed. A large number of newspaper men are here from all over Canada and many from the United States. Lawyers were early about, including a number from the outside who are here to listen to the case and take notes of it for their own information.

THE THIRD BATTALION.

ntGeneral Bonham Holds an Ir spection.

GREENVILLE, S. C., September 20.—[Special.]—The third battalion of the South Carolina Volunteers troops were inspected at this place by Adjutant General Bonham today. Three companies, the Greenville and Butler Guards of this place and the Mauldin Guards of Mauldin, S. C., commanded by Colonel J. W. Cagle, appeared and passed an exceedingly creditable inspection. Two companies of the command, viz., the Seneca Rifles and the Dacusville Guards, were unavoidably absent. The Seneca Guards, it will be remembered, lost their uniforms and equipments in the lost their uniforms and equipments in the great fire at that place last spring.

A lucky streak of fortune has fallen to Mrs. G.
A. Combs, of Humboldt, a former resident of this place. Her Scotch grandfather recently died in New York, leaving an estate in money and property valued at over $500,000 to Mrs.
Combs and a sister. She has forwarded proof of her relationship and will receive her share of the estate before long. Mrs. Combs is the wife of an industrious carpenter in poor circumstances.

The Horses Were Shot.

GREENVILLE, S. C., September 22.—[Special.]—Glanders appeared in three horses belonging to J. G. Wyatt, at Easley, S. C., a few days ago. As soon as discovered, the horses were isolated and kept until the state veterinary surgeon could see them. He pronounced them genuine cases, and ordered the horses shot, which was done today. Owing to the precautions taken it is confidently expected that there will be no spread of the disease.

SLANDERED THE DAUGHTER And Followed it Up by Murdering the Father.

CHIPLEY, Ga., September 22 .- [Special.]-A gloom rests on our little community this morning, occasioned by the tragic death of Mr. R. S. Shepherd, a highly respected citizen of our community, at the hands of J. H. Craw-

For several days there has been trouble brewing on account of certain slanderous reports made and circulated by Mr. Crawford on the daughter of Mr. Shepherd, a young lady whose standing in the community is above suspicion. Mr. Shepherd demanded at the hands of Mr. Crawford an instrument of writing, stating that the reports were false and malicious. On Saturday evening Mr. Crawford told Shepherd to write out any statement he wanted him to sign, and bring it to his house Monday morning. Accordingly Mr. Shep-herd, in company with Mr. William Gates, went with the papers to Crawford's house for him to sign this morning. Crawford, when called to the gate and learning the business of Shepherd, remarked that he would fix him, and turning went into the house, and got a double-barrelled shotgun and came out. Shepherd told him he did not want any trouble, and was unarmed and jumped behind his horse. Gates endeavered to prevent any trouble, and Crawford threatened to shoot him and turned on him with the gun, when Shepherd stepped from behind the horse and Crawford turned on him and emptied the contents of the barrel, twelve buckshot, in the region of the heart, killing Shepherd instantly, as stated. Mr. Shepherd was a quiet, peace-able, law-abiding citizen, a member of the Masonic fraternity, and its worshipful master. He leaves a large family dependent and help-less. The community is indignant. OPENED HIS WIFE'S LETTER. Singular Case Dismissed in a United States Court, NASHVILLE, Tenn., September 22 .- [Speial.]-United States District Attorney Ruhm today refused to countenance the prosecution of a man who was charge with opening his wife's mail. Some weeks since a citizen of Putnam county intercepted a letter addressed to his wife, and found in it criminating evidence which he subsequently used in a divorce suit. The writer of the letter thereupon ap plied to Mr. Ruhm for a warrant against the an on a charge of interfering with the mail. Mr. Ruhm refused to issue it, but the matter was taken before Commissioner Julien, at Bloomington, Putnam county, who referred the case to Mr. Ruhm, who ordered it dismissed, upon the ground that no jury could be found to convict under the circumstances.

The Queen Stopped the Trial.

MONTREAL, September 22 .- The case of R. N. O'Brien, who was arrested on the charge of criminal libel for publishing a story about Prince George having been engaged in a street fight here, which was postponed from Saturday until this morning, was today further ad journed until tomorrow morning. It is learned on the best possible authority that the case will be discontinued. It is asserted that Governor General Stanley has received a cable dispatch from the queen signifying her disdispatch from the queen signifying her disapproval of the proceedings taken against a subject for a private-offense against a member of the royal family. It is held that the dignity of the royal family is beyond peradventure and that their morals are not affected by the scurrilous story. It is also said that her majesty's command was imperative that the proceedings should be stopped, but nothing definite will be announced until tomorrow.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, September 22.—Futures opened unchanged on near, and one to three points advance on distant months; closing steady at four points decline on September, one point decline on October, one to three points advance on other months. The market today was a struggling one. It again played at cross purposes with Liverpool. That market was firm for early and weak for later deliveries. Ours was, at the close, just the reverse. The early improvement was due to bad picking weather at the south and nearly every town reported rains, and many of them heavy rains. But although it was said repeatedly "cotton is cheap," buyers were backward in coming forward, and in final dealings September and October showed some depression, and the market was generally unsettled. The decline in silver was an element of weakness.

Boot cotton was more active, but prices were barely steady.

Bond and Silver Purchases.

Washington, September 22.—The amount of silver offered for sale to the treasury today aggregated 1,035,000 ounces, and the amount purchased was 250,000 ounces at $1.156.

Total offers of 4½ per cent bonds to the treasury Saturday for the entire country under the circular of August 30th, were $3,105,150, making a total under the circular, so far accounted for, of $18,909,950. That circular expired Saturday, but some few offers that were made then or on previous days, are now being received by mail by the department, and will be accepted. These offers today, up to noon, aggregated $52,000. The prepayment of interest on 4 per cent bonds and currency 6s Saturday, aggregated $203,257, making a total, so far, of $6,421,618.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., September 22.—[Special.]—Fire broke out early this morning in Luverne, a little town on the Alabama Midland railway, destroying the stores occupied by Butler, Bush & Payne and J. D. Finley & Co. The exact amount of the loss is unknown. It

McAuliffe and Slavin Arrested by the London Police

London, September 22.—It is reported that Slavin and McAuliffe, principals in the prize fight which was to have taken place under the auspices of the Ormonde club, have been ar-rested. McAuliffe was arrested at his lodgings, in this city. Slavin will be arrested on his arrival from his training quarters at Do-ver. They will be arraigned in court this afternoon on the charge of conspiring to com mit a breach of the peace. Slavin was arrested and placed in custody with McAuliffe. Upon his arrival at the railway station Slavin entered a cab and was im-mediately placed under arrest. He was conveyed quietly to Lambeth police station, where both prisoners were arraigned and bound over to keep the peace.

German Newspapers Quarrel. German Newspapers Quarrel.

Berlin, September 22.—The Hamburger Nachrichten, which is accepted as Prince Bismarck's organ, a few days ago, published an article criticising the manner in which the government dealt with rumors concerning its attitude toward slavery in east Africa.

Africa.

The North German Gazette, the government organ, replying to the article, says that the government declines to be dictated to by the Nachrichten, and justifies the meeting of such canards at times by a straightforward denial instead of by diplomatic shuffling. The Gazette, in the course of its article, makes an incidental attack upon the persons who inspired the criticism.

The Anti-Slavery Congress

The Anti-Slavery Congress.

Paris, September 22.—The anti-slavery conference was opened today. President Keller welcomed the delegates. His welcome to the British delegates was especially warm. "Great Britain," he said, "was a great nation, and had done much for civilization." He declared that the Mohammedan religion was incapable of civilizing Africa, and that only Christian missionaries could elevate the blacks. He urged the congress to arouse such a movement throughout the world as would definitely end slavery. Cardinal Cavigerie will address the conference tomorrow.

London, September 22.—Later advices from Goa, India, state that eighteen persons were killed and fifty wounded in the election riot at that place by Portuguese troops who fired upon a crowd of republicans. Portuguese residents of Bombay have resolved to appeal to England to annex Goa, unless the Portuguese government redresses the grievances of its subjects there. The Bank's Deficit.

LONDON, September 22.—The liquidators of the Cape of Good Hope bank report that the deficit, in addition to the total loss of fully paid-up capital and reserve fund, amounts to £411,000. The report recommends that the first call be made upon the shareholders for £100,000 per share, payable in ten monthly installments.

The British Grain Trade. London, September 22.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: English wheats are plentiful. Deliveries for the first fortnight of the new cereal year are estimated at 300,000 quarters against 285,000 quarters during the corresponding period in 1889, and 90,000 quarters in 1888. Prices have fallen one shilling.

A Young Man Killed Before His Father's Eyes. Augusta, Ga., September 22.-[Special.]-A. A. Daniels, a young man of Berzelia, em-ployed as a section hand on the Macon branch of the Georgia railroad, met a tragic death in the sight of his father on Sunday at Berzelia. He was going to Berzelia to spend Sunday with his parents, and boarded a through freight train at Camak. Berzelia was not one of the train's stopping points, and young Daniels had neglected to ask the conductor to stop for him. When he reached Berzelia he jumped from the rapidly running train, and wept head foremost against a crosstie, breaking his neck in the presence of his father, who was there to meet him. Conyers, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]— Colonel A. M. Helms has accepted the nomination as the independent candidate for the legislature from this county.

The nomination was offered to Judge A. C. McCalla and Colonel J. C. Barton, but as they did not wish to be sacrificed they refused the honor. Judge McCalla stated in their first meeting that he did not wish to be sacrificed, but if any of the others did he was willing to help sacrifice him. Colonel Helms says he has no political aspirations, and he is willing to try to beat the nominee. When the votes are counted on the first day of next October Colonel Helms will scarcely know that he was in the race. He will be completely snowed under.

And There Is Great Difficulty in Getting the Cotton Picked.

Cotton Picked.

WASHINGTON, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]—There is a good deal of complaint about the want of labor to get cotton picked out. The crop is very fully opened for the season, and a great effort is made to preserve it before the equinoctial storm, A planter who was here on Saturday said there were two colored schools in his neighborhood with at least 150 boys and girls who could do good work, but no inducements can make them neglect booklearning for cotton picking. Many of the parents have cotton in danger of loss, but they do not care for that. There is great demand for all sorts of labor, skilled and unskilled, in this town and county.

He Blew Out the Gas.

ATHENS, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]—
Athens came near having a case of death from asphyxiation yesterday morning. Mr. Mitchell, a guest of Dr. Goes, was not at the breakfast table as usual and the family sent up after him. His room was found full of gas, and he was lying upon the bed in a state of insensibility. Dr. Gerdine was sent for, and after hard work for two hours, succeeded in reviving the unfortunate gentleman. At one time Saturday night the gas was very low, and it is supposed that it went entirely out in Mr. Mitchell's room, and then when it rose again, filled the room. It was a close call Dr. Mitchell had just arrived in the city from Birmingham.

A MYSTERY CLEARED.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF COUNTER-FEIT SILVER DISCOVERED

the Storehouse of a Man Who Is Now Serving a Term in the State Peni-tentiary—It Was a Mystery.

POWDER SPRINGS, Ga., September 22 .-Special.]—Quite an unexpected report comes up from the usually very quiet little town, Powder Springs, out on the East Tennessee road. For some time previous to a few months ago, the citizens of the town and community were very much perplexed to know from whence came an occasional sprinkle of counterfeit silver dollars. One gentleman brought some of the coin to an Atlanta bank, and it was pronounced a very good imi-tation, but without doubt a counterfeit. But no one could trace any of the pieces to their origin, and after being worried with them until a few months ago, they ceased to appear. About this time one Mr. Varner, of Powder Springs, was convicted and sent to the penitentiary for a term of ten years, for stealing a mule from another citizen of the town.

Mr. Varner kept open a store, but everyone saw and knew that he did not sell enough goods to make a living, and yet he and his family seemed always to have money. While this is true, no one thought of accusing him of obtaining a livelihood by illegal means, and, indeed, when he was arrested and charged with mule-stealing, everyone was very much surprised. The store of Mr. Varner stood idle until recently, when two ladies of Powder Springs rented it from his wife, with the intention of opening up a stock of goods. While cleaning out the house, imagine their surprise to find a complete silvercounterfeiting outfit. It Mr impossible Varner obtained the stamps, and the matter will probably remain a mystery, as Mr. Varner will yet be over nine years serving out his present term in the penitentiary.

NOW AND THEN.

The United States Senatorial Race as Viewed

The United States Senatorial Race as viewed From the Outside.

The senatorial race is the absorbing politica topic of late, and the question is frequently asked: "Why is Gordon, who, four years ago, swept the state like a storm and overcame the most perfect organization the state ever saw, put to the extremity of making a personal canvass from town totars." A little thought will surgest the resultance. to town?" A little thought will suggest the rea sons. In the first place, Governor Gordon is fighting a great reform movement, it is his individual aspirations and ambitions against an issue—an economic question. If Norwood, Smith, Hines and all the others who have been spoken of were dead the conflict would go on just the same. Their being discussed is not the reason Governor Gordon is being opposed, but the reason of his opposition is because of the conflict between him and this great reform movement for the relief of the peo-ple. That Governor Gordon is at issue with the great mass of the people who formerly supported him there can no longer be any doubt. Starting with his speech before the alliance in Atlanta, which was a monumental political blunder, and following through his attacks on the alliance leaders, and the on to his onslaught on Norwood, he has but demonstrated his position as being opposed to this movement. His position on this movement has drawn to his support every paper and interest in the state that has been, and still is, fighting this effort at relief from admitted financial evils. It needs no suggestion that they join hands with him, not because they love him, for they have heretofore been his consistent politnies, but because they see his position is the same as theirs, to-wit: Opposition to this re

In the second place, Governor Gordon is about the last man in the state to whom the people or abusiness, economic or mancial question. Our of the 190,090 alliancemen in Georgia, it would not be a difficult job to pick 50,000 men whose names would inspire more confidence in connection with a business, financial or economic question than wou'd Governor Gordon's. It is not worth while to enter into details as to why this is true, further than to state that it is not due to any lack of confidence in our good governor's integrity, but to a knowledge on their part of all who know him that he has no capacity in such matters. It is unques-tionably a fact that in this state, and perhaps out side of it, any business venture with which Gov ernor Gordon's name may be connected is thereby heavily discounted, and such ventures at once written down as "all right on paper," but utterly wild-eat" in reality.?
In the next place, Governor Gordon has so man-red as to have the friends and influen him four years ago, almost a unit in opposition to him now. Four years ago the master hand of Grady swung him through Georgia in the wake of Jeff Davis, and every resource of Grady's great brain and every beat of his noble heart was set on Gordon's election. Under his magic touch power brain and every beat of his noble heart was set on Gordon's election. Under his magic touch power ful committees sprang up in Gordon's interest; couriers were sent in advance and the train which hore the "conquering hero" had to stop at every station for the masses to see him and lavish their plaudits upon him and load his car with flowers. He swept the state. The gallant Grady has left tus, but not till he reaped his harvest of ingratitude from the man who ought to have died, if necessary, by him. Who is Gordon's good right arm in this present conflict? Where is now the powerful committee? the ovations, flowers and plaudits? where the grand orations of Gordon, sweeping down powerful competitors? where the dash, the enthusiasm? Unless some strange and new disease of the hearing has broken out in the places where the governor now appears, he speaks one speech and prints another and different one. It seems that every single speech he has made, which was printed, has caused him either to deny or qualify the report or withdraw something he said. If competent judges who have heard his speeches are to be believed, his efforts have been all up-hill work, as expressed "drags," and as compared to a bird with a broken wing which could not soar. And the enthusiasm is lacking, except as reported in the columns of papers fighting the people as he is. You hear on all hands that Gordon is making a mistake in defing this or that; that Gordon's advisers are remining him, and perhaps the most certain evidence of his approaching defeat is the fact that state senatorial possibilities are fast filling the "dark-horse pasture."

"dark-horse pasture."

To sum up—

1. Gordon is fighting an issue and isl on the wrong side of the question. Having straddled the fence as long as he possibly could, he has jumped off on the wrong side.

2. He is not the man for the occasion. The issues confronting the people and threatening their very existence are of a business, economic and financial character, and demand business judgment, tenounic ability and financial reputation of the highest order. Of all of these Governor Gordon is conspicuously lacking.

3. He has abandoned the very people who heretofore won his victories for him, and is undertaking to carry on his campaign without these powerful allies. He has allied himself with his ionner enemies under the common bond, not of love, but enuity to the interest of the masses of the people.

The alliancemen, in self-preservation, are compelled to stand as a unit against him. He is a defeated man.

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scrofula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it. it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. For all affections of the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula in any of its various forms, be sure to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

WHAT THE PEOPLE OF THE UILL CITY ARE DOING

The Formal Opening of the First Methodis Church-Bishop Haygood Present-Other News of the Day.

ROME, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]—The First Methodist church was formally dedicated

The other churches of the city had no services, but cheerfully gave way to the exercises

The Methodist church is a very handso Gothic structure, and was built at a cost of $40,000. The appearance from without is imposing, and within the building is strikingly

The church was in debt for a considerable amount and this was raised yesterday morning. Dr. Haygood preached a most excellent ser-and neatly finished in Georgia oak.

The music was very good. |Members of the several different choirs joined together.

Last night Dr. Haygood preached again to a very large congregation.

THE COURT IN SESSION. Judge Maddox called to order the superior court of Floyd county this morning. His charge was an unusually able one. He dwelt at length upon the road system, and said: "If the grand juries of our state were diligent, and had followed the law that has been in force for the last seventy-five years, why Georgia would have the best roads in the world." He called attention to the fact that NOISY, BOISTEROUS SCOUNDRELS, for they were not gentlemen, often made travel on the railroads so objectionable that our wives and daughters were insulted. That these drunken fellows played di-do in general, and that the conductors did not interfere; that there was one faithful conductor who, of his own knowledge, did, but the railroad had turned him off, so he was informed.

In that part of the charge in reference to pistols, his honor remarked that he just wanted to get a lick at one of those city fel-lows who parted his hair in the middle—that usually poor fellows got caught-but bring one of these dudes before him and twelve months in the chaingang and $1,000 might break it up. The grand jury is an exceptionally good one, and no doubt will unearth all the meanness in the county.

The case of Campbell vs. Campbell was taken up by the petit jury, Dean & Smith for plaintiff, Alexander & Wright, Dabney & Fouche for defense.

There are several churches in the county, and their membership is large. There were a number of lookers-on. The theatrical season opened here on last Saturday night with Cleveland's minstrels.

Nevin's opera house was filled with an enthusiastic audience. The performance was only fair.

Banks Winter's failure to appear caused some regret.

"Jim, the Penman," will be played tonight at Nevin's opera house and there will be a large There are to be four marriages in the high oricles of Roman society very shortly.

One of Rome's most distinguished professional men will wed perhaps the most popular young lady of Chattanooga, so 'tis said, in October.

Then in November there will be a marriage of a young business man of Rome to a very attractive Cave Spring young lady. The parties contracting of the other two marriages reside in Rome. Dink Ross, of the superior court, Clerk Dink Ross, of the superior court, called The Constitution's attention to the fact that there are twelve divorce cases brought for this term of the court. In addition to those previously on hand there will be fifteen or twenty. Pretty good record.

Rome people are amused at the census report in reference to Rome's population. It is so absurd to give Rome only about 7,000, that instead of wanting to fight, laughter takes its place.

A mass meeting was suggested, but this, no noubt, could accomplish no good, unless it could turn Harrison out. Some assert that only one of our five wards was counted.

JERKED FROM DEATH.

The Narrow Escape of a Drunken White

Man at Macon.!

Macon, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]—
This morning, about 2 o'clock, while Officer Ellison was on his beat, near the Brown house, he was approached by negroes, who told him that a white man was lying across the railroad track, near the old Rock mill. Officer Ellison went to the scene, and found the fellow's head resting on one rail and his legs across the other rail. He was "dead drunk."
A whisky bottle was near by. Officer Ellison removed the man from the track and carried him to the city barracks. In fifteen minutes more he would have been ground to death, as a train came thundering along in that time.

City Count. Macon, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]— Judge Harris presided today in the city court.
Scott Bryant was sent to the chaingang for four months for larceny from the house.
Julius Finney was sent to the chaingang six months for gambling. Mr. M. G. Bayne is ably acting as solicitor general pro tem., in the absence of Solicitor General William H.
Felton, who is attending the bedside of his sick father at Marshallville.

A Sudden Death. Macon, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]—Mr. T. C. Grove, the efficient and courteous Western Union telegraph operator, received a telegram today announcing the sudden death of his father, Hon. James H. Grove, at his home at Charleston, West Virginia. Last night the deceased was an ex-senator, He was a very popular man, quite wealthy and intelligent. The many friends of Mr. T. C. Grove sympathize with him in the death of his father.

Upon the stomach and bowels are perpetrated by multitudes of injudicious people who, upon experiencing the annoyance of constipation in a slight degree, infiltrate their bowels with drenching evacuants, which enfeeble the intestial membrane to a serious extent, sometimes, even, superinducing dysentery or piles. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the true succedaneum for these nos trums, since it is at once invigorating, gentle and effectual. It also banishes dyspepsia, malarial complaints, rheumatism and kidney troubles.

A BLOODY RENCONTRE Between Two Men Four Miles From Adairs

ADAIRSVILLE, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]—About four miles from Adairsville, this afternoon, about 5 o'clock, a most terrible affair occurred between brothers-in-law. The original cause cannot be ascertained tonight. It appears that Mr. Charles Pickard had been to a country barroom and got under a full head of mean whisky. While on the road home he had to pass Mr. Loring Robuck's house. Robuck had started to the pasture to turn the cours out. turn the cows out. A few words passed, and then Pickard began to use his pocket knife on Robuck with telling effect. Robuck then shot Pickard once through the abdomen. Both men are seriously hurt, and may be fatally. Rumor says they had had some former diffi-

The Dougherty County Democrats.

Albany, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]—
The Dougherty county democratic convention assembled here today. Judgo W. T. Jones was elected chairman of the democratic executive committee, W. W. Turner secretary.
Hon. J. W. Walters nominated W. E. Wooten as representative, which was carried unanimously by a rising vote. Captain Wooten, being notified, acknowledged the honor by a short address. A resolution, read by Mr. S. J. Jones, endorsing General Gordon as United States senator, was unanimously carried.

Given a Job on the Street.

Athens, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]—Last night three railroad negroes got into a difficulty on Hancock avenue. Policeman Kelly attempted to stop it. During the arrest of the negroes one of them, named Tom Harris, attempted to shoot Officer Kelly, but was prevented. This morning he was given $100 or ten months on the street and bound over to appear to the next city court.

Set the Jall on Fire. Set the Jall on Fire. []
CEDARTOWN, Ga., September 22.—[Special.]
The leader of the burglar gang of six put in jail here a few days ago, set fire to the building inside Saturday night, to burn a hole for escape. A white man, named Williams, who was in the jail, raised the alarm, when the jailer, with assistance, extinguished the flames.

Some Inspiring Figures.

The comptroller general has completed the footings of the tax returns on all property except railroads, and the figures reveal a state of affairs which is gratifying beyond expression:

The comparison with the returns of last year shows the unprecedented increase of 10 per cent in the whole property of the state. To come to the figures, the increase of all property, except railroads, was $32,548,031, making the total $378,486,868. With the railroads, the whole taxable property of the state this year will be, in round numbers, $415, 000,000.

This phenomenal increase, not equaled by a southern state since 1860, extends through all classes of property, showing the general prosperity and rapid development of the country. When we remember that this vast sum was added to the property of the state while our people were paying debts faster than at any time since the war, the actual gain to the state is seen to be much greater than it appears in the tax returns. Add to the gain there the happy gain made in the payment of old debts that were hanging like millstones about the people's necks, and the real improvement is little short of $50,000,000.

But there is in these returns something more significant than the general prosperity-something which gives hope to the toiling masses and reassures all the other classes that depend upon them. These figures show so plainly that a wayfaring man may see it; that the agricultural interest has taken on new life and is growing and prospering more than at any time since 1860. For years after the war the towns and cities grew richer, while the country grew poorer. After awhile the country districts began to pick up a little, but the towns and cities far outstripped them in the race for prosperity. In the last five years the rural now their wealth is increasing almost as fast as that of the urban population,

Last year Comptroller General Wright compiled a table showing the relative growth in value of different classes of property during the decade from 1879 to 1889. That was the period when agriculture began to climb-slowly at first, but a little faster every year. There was considerable progress in the ten years, but still the contrast with town and city property was painful. While agricultural lands increased in value 32 per cent, town and city property advanced 86 per centnearly three times as fast!

Now mark the happy change! During the past year agricultural lands have increased 9 4-10 per cent, while town and city property enhanced 13 per cent-only one-third more. Agriculture has quickened its pace until it has almost caught up with the towns and cities. But for the phenomenal increase of $6,000,000 in Fulton county this year, the increase in agricultural land would have been greater than that of town and city propertytake out Atlanta and the country was

This comparison is between land in the country and land in town. There are classes of personal property that increased faster than either. Stocks and bonds, for instance, jumped up 77 per cent. The return of these items increased from $6,-209,178 to $10,999,885. This increase is due largely to the tremendous development in manufacturing and transportation. The building of 500 miles of railroad probably accounts for a good deal of the increase, as large amounts of construction stock and bonds are held in this state. Another notable fact is that Georgia bonds, even at the low rate of interest they draw, have become favorites with home investors, and considerable amounts are held inside the state.

There is a tale of rejoicing in these tax returns-a tale that would cover pages of THE CONSTITUTION—but enough has been said to show phenomenal prosperity among all classes of Georgia's population.

Rockefeller's Donation. Although Mr. Rockefeller's alleged gift of $20,000,000 to the endowment of a Baptist university in New York has dwindled to a modest, but emphatic denial, the wealthy oil man has redeemed himself by supplementing his first gift of $600,000 to the Baptist university of Chicago with $1,000,-000, which places that university on a solid, permanent foundation. It seems that Mr. Rockefeller is determined to place a fair quantity of his money where it will do good. If, as has been charged, he has indeed "ground his millions out of the poor," it must be said for him that he is making restitution in a very fair

A Timely Warning.

Mr. Ingalls is coming to the front again but, as usual, he occupies a very unpleasant role. He has announced that he will return to Kansas as soon as he can wind up his affairs in Washington, and howl for the republicans on the stump. He wants to stir up the old sectional issues again, and look after his waning interests in his native state.

But Mr. Ingalls has been informed by his home papers, both republican and democratic, that he is not wanted there; that political conditions in Kansas are entirely different from what they were formerly, and that he will find his path beset with difficulties which he will not be able to surmount. The Kansas City Star sounds this note of warning: The old issues which have enkindled the eld quence and inspired the pyrotechnic oratory of Mr. Ingalls for twenty-five years are dead. They have survived in Kansas longer than in any other section of the union, but even there they no longer show any signs of vitality, and have been crowded aside by living questions. The discussion of these new problems will be a new venture for Mr. Ingalls, but it is one that he will be compelled to make if he desires to interest the people and impress them with his fitness to represent them in the United States senate. There are still a few republicans in Kansas who look upon abuse of the democratic party as the perfection of statesmanship, but the number is very inconsiderable as compared with the great body of voters who go to make up the rank and file of the party. who go to make up the rank and file of the party.

The issues of the war are generally regarded. Those campaign orators who make a business of opening up the old sores are falling into disfavor. The people are interested in present concerns, and th speaker who can enlighten the n upon the affairs which touch their material welfare will fix their attention and earn their gratitude This is the right kind of talk, and our contemporary goes on to say that "Ingalls, as a rebel skinner," will fail utterly in Kansas now; the people are tired of him in that role, and if all signs do not fail, they will prove to him that they are tired of him in any role. In this connection it is gratifying to know that the people of Kansas now realize, in deed and in truth, that the war is over; that there are more important issues on hand than sectional ones, and we commend the example of our plain and outspoken contemporary, The Kansas City Star, to the thoughtful consideration of partisan newspapers everywhere. Southern newspapers have led off on this line of letting war issues severely alone. When the south is attacked, they must needs defend her; but they are only on the defensive; and it is not expected that they should remain silent when the south is as-

The Kansas City Star is on the right line and we repeat that its example is worthy of national emulation.

The Difference Between Two Admin-

The New York bankers, republicans and emocrats alike, are loudly complaining that the present administration holds currency out of the reach of the public simply to carry out a policy to which it was committed by campaign criticisms of Mr. Cleveland's ad-

The republican administration has gotten into trouble by a peculiar policy, which cannot be better described than by calling it Harrisonian, a policy based on the idea that whatever was done under Mr. Cleveland's administration must be wrong, and that some change must be made to justify the clap-trap charges trumped up during the campaign. One of these charges was that Mr. Fairchild, in the exercise of his official authority, deposited the funds of the national government in places where they would do the nost good for the administration, one of the specific charges being that $1,000,000 was deposited in the bank of Mr. Brice, chairman of the national democratic committee, thus rewarding him with $50,000 a year for his political services. It was very promptly shown that the only depository Mr. Brice had any interest in was a bank of which the president and a majority of directors were republicans. It was on that occasion that Mr. Fairchild justly charged Mr. Blaine, the author of this slander, with ignorance or mendacity. It was shown also that the government deposits were made in the order of application, without the alleged discrimination between the eastern and western banks.

But these charges had been taken up by the republican party, and it was the Harrisonian policy to run them through the business policy of the present administration. That system of putting money into circulation must be undone to give a color of sincerity to the republican attack upon the financial policy of the democratic administration. Therefore, the present administration cannot, without eating crow, adopt the suggestion of republican bankers that Mr. Windom do as his predecessor, Mr. Fairchild, did, in depositing the current surplus of the government with the national banks upon terms of ironclad security, thus without expense increasing the deposits, and thereby enormously swelling the loanable funds in the banks of the country, without favoritism between parties or sections. To have adopted this suggestion would have peen an acknowledgment that the democratic administration was right, and the republican administration was wrong; and this was too much for the Harrisonian stomach. The republican administration must be vindicated, even at the cost of millions of the government's money, paid out for bonds at high prices, and in the payment of interest before it was due. It may be said that the deposit of the government's money in the banks, even on ironclad security, was a gift of so much interest; but it was no more so than the national banking system, to which the government was already committed by law, and for which congress had not provided a substitute. In so doing, Mr. Cleveland's administration merely extended the financial policy to which the representatives of the people had given their sanction in the ment of the national bank law. With this precedent coming from the people and not yet reversed, Mr. Cleveland had some reason for a policy which largely increased the currency of the country without increasing the burdens of the taxpayers by one dollar. The money was in the treasury and drawing no interest, and it was far better to let the country have the use of it than to put out a much smaller amount in buying bonds under circumstances which raised the market price and put an extra expense of million on the government and the taxpayers.

Mr. Cleveland had justly denounced the prior policy of the government, which heaped up that great surplus by drawing it out of the channels of trade and out of the pockets of the people, but inasmuch as he found it there, lying useless in the treasury while the country was sorely in need of more currency, he acted the part of a statesman in throwing it into the channels of trade by a simple method, strictly in keeping with the financial system to which the government had long been committed, and for which no substitute had been provided. To that extent he corrected the evils of the bad policy which preceded.

When the people have their way, they will remove the system which makes it pos sible to take so much money out of the channels of trade and put it where it will lie idle. Pending such a change, a democratic administration manages to get the money back into circulation without expense to the government. The republicans, on the contrary, manage to get a little of it back into circulation, and that little is put out at a heavy expense to the government. There is the contrast between the two administra tions, and it is so plain that even the republicans have pointed it out.

GENERAL ROULANGER has challenged his enemies to mental combat-in the newspapers. Boulanger is determined to keep himself before the public, if he dies in the attempt.

Some of the critics have discovered that Boucicault was a plagiarist. Boucicault is no more, and it should be remembered that the same charge stands against Shakespeare.

THEY ARE having some "popular" shows in the north, and the newspapers are making them still more popular by publishing double-

THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD never fails to put in an appearance now. It is rumored that ts circulation has increased wonderfully in the past few weeks, and that Count Tolsto as become a cash subscriber.

THE ALBANY JOURNAL is not happy. But very few northern republican newspapers are enjoying themselves at this particular time. An author wants to know how to get in he magazines easily. Well, a good plan would be to obtain a position as advertise nent writer for a soap firm. THE NEW YORK MAIL AND EXPRESS IS SAY ing a good word for Horace Greeley's statuecause Greeley started Whitelaw Reid on The Tribune. Deacon Shepard is both shy and partisan, even in his compliments. INGALLS IS preparing another lecture on the war, and his Kansas friends are getting ready to put him in an asylum.

MR. CALAMITY, of Pennsylvania, seems t have brought as much strife into the republican party as Boss Quay himself.

The Death of a Little Boy. At the funeral services of little Linton Harris, in West End, vesterday, the floral of erings were less remarkable for their quantity than their quality. The rarest blooms that the season affords were there, sent by those who knew the little fellow in life. With him the love of flowers was something more than fancy—it was a passion that gave to his young life a beautiful ardor and a delicate refinement that are not to be acquired by artificial aid.

In the early spring it was a favorite remark e proposed to hide in the bushes of his that he and watch the roses bloom. That he discovered carried the knowledge of it in the wise, mysterious and unfathomable depths of his beautiful eyes. But the secret was inviolate. Whether told to him by the singing birds, the droning bees, or the vagrant wind, it went no But it was not alone the secret of the rose that he learned. There was no flower of the woods or fields so shy that it hid from him. At his timid but familiar knock Nature opened wide the door of her vast storehouse.

It is natural that the hand that pens these lines should permit itself swayed by partiality in ing on the characteristics to of the little boy that is dead; and yet an old man, a distinguished writer, and one of the most ac complished scholars the south has produced, was so attracted by the rare personal charac eristics of the child that he wrote and affectionate letters. Another old man seen all of life that is worth seeing, fell to weeping like a child when he heard that the little boy was dead. An old negro woman who had nursed him went away from the house where he lay dead with the tears stream As with these, so it was with all who knew him. Possessed of singular beauty and grace. his life and character were beautiful and graceful, still shy diffident, he was yet the manliest and brightest little fellow ever seen. There some nameless attraction about hi personality as perceptible as the perfume of a ower, and as elusive. He touched all hearts and led them captive. His life was as perfect music. He carried life and sunshine every-

Even Death, laying aside his dart, took the little boy gently to his bosom, where he lay smiling.

A WRITER IN The New York Star remarks that Boucicault's death temporarily revives criticism of his plays, and adds: A more prolific playwright never lived, nor one who better understood the art of creating stage "situations." His plays were easy to memorize, all actors said, because the lines were so pat with the "business." One of his productions will survive as a classic because it is not pocal, and is based on imperishable facts of humanity. I refer to "London Assurance." Was Bouescault its sole author? Who now can answer this question? About the year 1873 John Brougham said at a whist table at the Lotos iclub, in the hearing of the writer, that he wrote parts of "London Assurance," and sold all his right, title and interest in the work to Boucleault for $1,000.

-The republicans of Dougherty county will hold a convention in Albany, on Saturday next, to nominate a candidate for the tenth senatorial dis trict.

-Hon. W. E. Wooten, who yesterday received the unanimous nomination as representative from Dougherty county, will probably be the youngest member of the next house. He is the son of Hon. C. B. Wooten is a graduate of the State university of the class of '85, and is the solicitor of the county court of Dougherty. He is captain of the Albany Guards, and as yesterday's action demonstrated, is probably the most popular young man in his section. He had no opposition whatever, which is a deserved tribute to his popularity. # THE PRODIGAL RETURNS.

And Keeper Havens Has Him Safe in th Deer Paddock.

Deer Paddock.

There was a sort of a reunion in the deer family at the Grant park menagerie yesterday morning.

The young buck that escaped from the paddock about four months ago is now back among his mates again. He returned to the park about a week ago, and was captured by Keeper Havens yesterday morning by the use of a little stratagem.

Havens yesterday morning by the use of a little stratagem.

Last May the heavy rains broke down the floodgates which protect the deer paddock where the stream passes through, and during the night four of the frisky, fleetflooted animals made their escape. Three of them were captured, however, the next day, but the fourth one evaded pursuit, and has been at large ever since until yesterday.

For awhile the deer lingered about the park and the groves adjacent, but after being free for a few weeks his wild nature began to assert itself, and on several occasions he was heard of at a considerable distance from his native dales.

Once a farmer living near Jonesboro came to Atlanta and laid a complaint before Mr. Gress, of the park commission on the escaped buck's account.

buck's account.

The animal had been playing havoc with his pee crop, and the farmer was somewhat angry. He notified Mr. Gress that he would put an end to the deer's depredations, dead or provided the second of t alive. Mr. Gress, of course, gave him permission to do his do, and accordingly the farmer organized a regular hunting party to take the mischlevous buck. He got together a pack of good hounds, and

He got together a pack of good hounds, and the animal was chased through one whole night. But dogs and guns proved unavailing, and Mr. Buck was allowed to pursue his wayward career at his own sweet will.

Then again he was heard of near Stockbridge, where a party of hunters with a pack of hounds vainly endeavored to effect his capture dead or alive.

of hounds vainly endeavored to effect his capture, dead or alive.

About a week ago he was seen in the park again by Keeper Havens, who at once set a trap to take him in.

Keeper Havens began by placing a nice mess of green corn and the like in a box some distance from the deer paddock, moving the box with its feed nearer to the paddock each day. Finally the box got very close to the paddock, the gate of which was left open so the animal would go inside if he chose.

Sunday night a nice mess of feed was prepared and put in the box, which was placed inside the open door of the deer lot. Sure enough, the unsuspecting buck went in, and was nibbling at the bait when Keeper Havens crept up to the gate early yesterday morning.

crept up to the gate early yesterday morning.

The deer made a leap for liberty the moment he caught sight of Mr. Havens, but he was not quite quick enough. The gate was pushed shut by the keeper just as the animal sprang against it.

For awhile he took his capture pretty hard, leaping excitedly from one side of the paddock to the other, but finally he calmed down and made friends with his old mates again.

ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL. A Pair of Tourists Whore Tour Started Badly. Last night Sheriff Ennis, of Baldwin county, and Mr. Burner were arrested on the Air-Line train at Norcross and brought to Atlanta on the 9:45 train.

In connection with their arrest by Conductor Roseborro, who was running on the outbound

But in this case it is not quite so well, because the two men were delayed a day on a crip north and east which they had planned.

he had lost them.
Immediately he jumped from the car and rustned buck to the ticket office. He notified the clerk there that he had lost the tickets, but determined not to be left, and after giving the information, ran back to the train, which was then just pulling out.

The ticket seller telegraphed the conductor of the train, Mr. Roseborro, about the loss of the two tickets, giving the numbers and in-

AN ELECTRIFIED TREE. The Sap Gurgles and Boils and the Steam

There was a strange sight at the corner of Washington and Hunter streets last night. A large water oak tree, growing on the capitol grounds, was the center of the sensation, which attracted the attention of citizens in the neighborhood and passersby. About two feet from the base of the tree, the exterior of which was black-ened and the leaves and branches drooping the exterior of which was blackand wilted, in a sunken-in place shaped like a needle's eye, the center of the eye extending almost to the heart of the tree, was an opening. Trom this aputure a volume of hot steam belched forth, and the sound of boiling sap could be heard distictly. In places the hot say pozed through the bark in long seams. It was a strange sight, and for a good while its cause was unaccountable. To the touch he tree was unbearably hot. The only cause that could be assigned for he freak was a stray wire, which was tied from the tree to an electric light pole on the corner, becoming crossed with a main current wire imperfectly insulated. The electric light works was notified, but othing could be done until this morning

He stepped aside on the end of a beam, and when the train pulled up, going at a slow rate of speed, he attempted to get aboard. In doing this, he made a false spring and was thrown headlong from the trestle, his head missing the end of a beam only a few inches.

Mr. Bell fell a distance of forty feet, but fortunately the earth was very soft and that was all that saved his life. He was stunned to a considerable degree, but in a few minutes was able to get aboard the train, with assistance, the engineer having stopped his enginewhen he saw what had happened.

Flattering Reports Received From the Va

The first matter that came up was reports from the various wards, which were very enthusiastic and encouraging. Strong speeched were made by Hon. A. M. Reinhardt, Colone

J. R. Whiteside, Dr. W. M. Curtis, Colonel

Iamilton Douglas and others. There were several members of the county central committee present and they reported that there was every evidence that Hon. W. H. Venable would poll a heavy vote and carry the county by a large majority.

It was decided to hold a mass meeting at Shell's hall, on West Peters street, in the first ward, on Friday night. There will also be meetings in Cook's and West End the lat-

Haiman's plow factory, on Marietta street, to-night at 7:30 o'clock. Hon. W. H. Venable will be present and address the meeting. Speeches will be made by Councilman Lam-

The Committee to Meet and Arrange for the Coming Primary.

Today at 12 o'clock the committee appointed by the county executive com-mittee will meet in Colonel A. J. West's office for the purpose of taking every preliminary step for the coming primary. Colonel West is chairman of that committee, and has called the meeting so that the members can gather to discuss the different plans that may be advanced.

The managers of the polls will be selected by this committee also, and their names will be announced in due time to further arrange for the election.

It is probable that the twin-ballot system will not be put in vogue as was first expected, some of the candidates having expressed their opposition to the system.

The meeting today will be a most important one, and it is expected that every one of the committee will be present.

ANOTHER RICHARD

IN THE FIELD FOR THE SUPREME COURT BENCH.

Judge Richard H. Clark, of the Stone Mountain Circuit, Announces His Candi-dacy—A Triangular Contest.

Judge Richard H. Clark, of Atlanta, judge of the Stone Mountain circuit, will be a can-didate before the general assembly for a seat on the bench of the supreme court.

This makes the third candidate for the seat which is to be filled by Judge Blandford's term expiring. These three candidates are, the present incumbent, Judge Blandford; Judge Samuel Lumpkin, of the northern circuit, and Judge Richard H. Clark, of the Stone Mountain circuit.

Judge Blandford's friends have been hard at work in his behalf, and those of Judge Lumpkin have been particularly industrious for the Judge Clark will proceed at once to work, and between the three an interesting and live-ly campaign will no doubt be the result. Judge Clark announces his candidacy as

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.
I hope it is appropriate for me to be a candidate for judge of the supreme court, at the election to be held at the next session, and i now so announce myself. If elected I promise to administer justice without respect to person, and do equal rights to the poor and the rich, and hope that my long record as judge and lawyer will be a guarantee for its performance. My candidacy is not in the common spirit of office-seeking, nor of antagonism to other candidates, but from the hope and belief I can be useful to my state and people in that position.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN THE TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRTY-FIFTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

MR. TODD'S CARD

In Which He Asserts That He Will Make Good and Faithful Senator-He Talks About Mr. Venable.

Mr. |Robert Todd, the Clayton county candidate for senator from the thirty-fifth sena-torial district, presents a card this morning. In it he speaks of Mr. Venable. The Zouave armory was packed last night with the supporters of Hon. W. H. Venable. The meeting was called to order by Hon. P. J.

In it he speaks of Mr. Venable.

The card reads:

ATLANTA, September 22.—Editor Constitution:
I am informed that Mr. Venable's friends are telling it around town that I was opposed to Governor John B. Gordon for United States senator. I write this to say that I have made no such statement to any one, but here state that if elected to the state senate I will vote for Governor Gordon for United States senator.

Mr. Venable, or some friend of his, said a while back through the public prints that "however clever I may be, I am no more capable of attending to the important legislation of the distrist than a baby is of understanding the rule of three." And Mr. Venable himself said last Saturday night in his cuacus that "I was a very clever, honest gentleman, but thought I would be better off on my farm attending to it, and peddling butter milk, and that he could attend to the business to better advantage than I could."

A GRAND RALLY.

There will be a grand rally of the supporters of Hon. W. H. Venable at Miles's hall, opposite and that he could attend to the business to better advantage than I could."

Mr. Venable seems to think that I am incapable of representing the district—but that he is. If he will discuss with me on the stump all over the district, I agree to meet him in joint debate, and let the people and not him decide between us. If elected, I pledge to give the people as pure legislation as I have furnished them pure milk, and in advance agree to introduce into the legislature only such bills as will advance the interest of the public, and not look out specially for my own personal ends, believing as Cleveland has said, "Public office is a public trust." I am the democratic nominee of the thirty-fifth senatorial democratic nomines of the thirty-fifth senatorial district, and solicit the support of every demo-cratic voter in the district, as well as every voter that believes in honest political dealing. Respectfully, ROBERT TODD.

"I hope," said Colonel W. C. Glenn yesterday, "that the Young Men's Democratic League will not take a hand in the coming sheriff's race. The situation is just this, both tickets are made up of democrats equally deyout, and men equally competent to fill the offices, and I, for one, will oppose any movement to bind the league to any one ticket. It is of course different in the Venable-Todd campaign, for in that a question of politics is to be handled and an issue to be settled."

"Is there a movement in the league to take sides in the sheriff's race?" somebody asked.
"I have heard it intimated," Colonel Glenn replied. Will It Take a Hand?

RAILROAD STOCKS. THE STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, September 22.—Notwithstanding the heavy outpouring of funds from the treasury into New York banks last week, the average for the week given out Saturday showed a gain in the week given out Saturday showed a gain in reserve of only $5,000,000, and, although it placed the banks once more on the right side of the 25 per cent rule, the gain was so small in proportion to well-known large disbursements that the bears were given another opportunity to cry about the scarcity of money. Holdings of banks last Saturday must have been many millions larger than the average for the past week, and, while borrowers had no trouble in obtaining accommodation ers had no trouble in obtaining accommodations at from 4 to 5 per cent, there was a marked lack of anxiety to buy stocks, although there was no apprehension but that the supply of funds would be ample for weeks to come. This long-continued aparthy of buyers which had been the principal encouragement of the bearish attacks for months again led to the bringing of considerable pressure this morning upon stocks which have months again led to the bringing of considerable pressure this morning upon stocks which have been leaders in the market in point of activity of late. There is widespread sentiment in favor of higher prices in the street, but everyone is waiting for some one else to take hell and start the upward movement which all are expecting, and until some leader appears in whom traders have confidence, the same condition of things is likely to continue. Some efforts are being wade to give the impression that Gould is things is likely to continue. Some efforts are being made to give the impression that Gould is about to give aid of his powerful influence to such movement, but no real proof of his intention of such action is forthcoming. The bears, in the meantime, have ceased to cover shorts, and traders, for the time being, take the short side, and as usual, buying is checked. Today grangers, and especially St. Paul, were made again prominent in their efforts to get prices down. There were material losses in the forenoon, extending to 2 per cent, but in the afternoon those losses were increased, notwithstanding some ineffectual efforts to rally the market. North American, which seems to have no support whatever, was then a special object of attack and before its lowest point was reached over 4 per cent had been lopped off of its value. The rest of the list sympathized and the lowest prices of the day were reached in the last hour. The weakness in the market seems to come principally from the day were reached in the last hour. The weak-ness in the market seems to come principally from disappointment on the part of some holders of stocks who expected a boom would follow in-mediately after money became easy. The beirs, however, are very active and are adding to their lines of shorts already large. It is estimated that fully $40,000,000 of money is now in the hands of investors as a result of their sales of bonds to the covernment, and there are expectations that a government, and there are expectations that a considerable proportion of this money will find its way into Wall street. The close was quiet, but weak, at about the lowest prices of the day. Sales of listed stocks 187,009 shares, unlisted 43,000.

for a slight decline in September contracts here as a result of a somewhat heavy arrival of cotton for September delivery in New York, the markets are without appreciable change, either here or in Liverpool. Futures in the latter market are perhaps 1-64d lower, but in New York the distant positions, if anything, are stronger, and the disposition on the part of the bears has rather been to cover up their short contracts. Cables from Liverpool to us are to the effect that the recount, which is annually made upon the first of October, will probably show that the estimated stock is 50,000 bales in excess of the actual, but as this figure is considerably smaller than it was earlier supposed it would ably smaller than it was earlier supposed it would be, we doubt if the effect upon the market will be not, we doubt if the effect upon the market will be pronounced. Crop accounts continue in a somewhat gloomy strain, and many correspondents estimate the condition at from 102/15 per cent below that of last year. We are inclined to think, however, that such reports are somewhat exaggerated, as the tendency is always to overestimate the damage done to a crop that has promised very brilliantly.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, September 22—Wheat—The volume Grain and Provisions.
CHICAGO, September 22—Wheat—The volume of speculative trading was fair and chiefly local. The local crowd was largely short, and they were anxious to cover, the situation being just to their liking. A prominent local trader bought rather freely. The opening was weaker and prices about 1/4@1/4c, cased off again and closed about 1/4@1/4c, the market at the session, or which developed soon after the opening, was attributed principally to a decrease in the visible supply.

Corn was only moderately active, the market at times ruling rather quiet. The feeling prevailing was, on the whole, somewhat firmer, though at the opening an easier tone was manifested. The first trades were at 1/4 decline, after which prices advanced with 1/4c loss.

Oats were active, stronger and higher. Opened at 1/4@2/4c advance, advanced 1/4c, and receded 1/4c, became firm and advanced 1/4c, and receded 1/4c. The near deliveries were stronger, especially September, which advanced 1/4c, and the market closed easy at 1/4m2/4c below outside figures.

Mess pork—Quite a good trade was reported. The opening trades were made at 22/4c decline, and was quickly followed by a further reduction of 5c. At this decline prices railied 20@25c and closed rather steady at about medium figures.

Lard—A fair, husiness, reported.

of Sc. At this decline prices rallied 20@25c and closed rather steady at about medium figures.

Lard—A fair business reported. Early sales were made at 2.2.65c decline. Later prices rallied 2.2.65c, but at the close the advance was not sup-2½, 25c, but at the close the across the across ported.

Short ribs—Trading was fairly active. |The opening sales were made at 5c decline, quickly followed by a further reduction of 5c, later rallied 5@7½c, and closed comparatively steady at medium figures. The following was the range in the leading futures in Chicago today:

THE ORGANIZATION. Last evening a large number of stockholders, with a majority of the incorporators, met to perfect an organization.

The meeting was held in the office of Messrs. King & Anderson, at No. 9½ Peachtree street.

The incorporators retired, and after a short ultation, announced that the corporators had accepted the first $100,000 subscribed, and it was now in order that the stockholders de-termine as to whether the stock be increased, as the corporation had been chartered with a capital stock of $100,000 and the privilege to increase to $500,000, if the company so de-

The corporators adjourned, and Mr. Joe Hirsch was called to the chair by the stock-amittee of three, consisting of Captain A. J. West, Dr. William Perrin Nicolson and Mr. Peel, was appointed to find out how many shares of stock were represented, and $51,200

Mr. Clifford L. Anderson then read the constitution and by-laws of the new company, and they were adopted by sections.

There are to be 100 shares of $100 each, with privilege to increase to 500 shares.

The directors will meet on the second Tuesday of each month. The annual meeting of stockholders for the election of officers and other matters of that kind, was fixed for the first Monday in October in each year.

Nine directors, whose business shall be to elect a president, vice president and cashier nediately after each annual meeting, and to elect or appoint all agents and employes of the company, to fix their salaries, and to declare dividends and have the general man-agement and control of the affairs of the company. The directors will also approve all loans and fees upon the securities offered. The duties of president and vice president, with cashier, attorneys and other employes, shall be as usual in corporations of the same

It will require 250 shares of stock to call a meeting, and a majority of the stock to consti-tute a quorum for the transaction of business.

The following gentlemen were nominated for the office of directors, and were elected unanimously: Messrs. W. L. Peel, A. J. West, W. J. Zachary, Joe Hirsch, D. Woodward, W. J. Van Dyke, Ed C. Peters, H. T. Inman and C. L. Anderson.

It has also decided that the capital stock shall be increased from time to time until it reaches $200,000.

The meeting then adjourned and immediately afterwards the directors met and proceeded to elect officers.

Mr. W. L. Peel was elected president; Mr. Joseph Hirsch, vice president; Mr. J. E. Mor-

A committee consisting of Messrs. Anderson, West and Hirsch was appointed to suggest such by-laws for the government of the directors as they deem necessary, and to report on such other offices as shall be necessary.

The meeting then adjourned.

The new association begins work under the most favorable auspices, and promises to be one of the most prosperous and successful financial institutions in the city.

candidates that are showing up over the state.

Under the heading, "Who Is Responsible?"
Editor Brown says:

We have been ridiculed by some papers and standered by others for saying that Governor Gordon and his friends are responsible for much of the independent movement in the state.

We re-assert what we have said—"the evidence is against them." Immediately after Governor Gordon made his denunciatory speech in Conyers, the following notice was sent out by his friends. Let the people read and form their own conclusions. The movement is plainly in General Gordon's interest, and he must either bear the responsibility or stop such proceedings.

Here is the notice:

"NOTICE TO VOTERS.

"Every oter who opposes boycotting, and is epposed to the subtreasury scheme, and in favor of General John B. Gordon for the United States senate, is requested to meet at the courthouse at Conyers, at 11 o'clock a. m., Thursday next, September 18th, to consult about the political situation, and to put out a candidate to oppose the alliance candidate for the legislature, the alliance candidate being in favor, of the subtreasury scheme, and having refused to answer the question whether or not he is in favor of General Gordon for the September 15, 1890."

In answer to the above call, about seventy-five persons met in the courthouse. Eleven lived out of the county, nine were republicans, fifteen were alliancemen merely looking on, and the remainder were newspaper men, lawyers, children and negroes. They all, except the newspaper men and alliancemen, endorsed Gordon.

A Suit Brought by Malcolm Johnston Against R. H. Knapp.

Against R. H. Knapp.

A verdict was rendered in the suit of Mal coim Johnston against R. H. Knapp in the superior court yesterday,

The suit grew out of the receivership of the estate of Withers & Holland, an old case which has been in the courts since 1884.

R. H. Knapp was the first receiver, but it appearing that he was not conducting the affairs of the property in a legal manner, he was removed and Mr. Malcolm Johnston appointed by the court to take charge of the estate.

The suit tried yesterday was Malcolm Johnston, receiver, vs. R. H. Knapp and others, meaning his bondsmen, the two who were mentioned being Mr. A. P. Stewart and Mr. McNaught.

The verdict of the jury reads in brief:
1 question: Did or did not Knapp and Stewart execute the bond dated November 20, 1884?

Spalding the Last to Come—Nearly 10 Per Cent in One Year—Some Mighty Interesting Figures.

The tax digest came in yesterday from Spalding county.

Its coming has been waited for with a great deal of interest, because it was the only one out; and as soon as it came the official figures could be given, showing the aggregate increase for the year.

The total value of property returned last year in the state, not including railroads, was The total value returned this year, not in-uding railroads, is $378,486,868. This is a trifle more than The Constitution's estimate of several weeks ago, owing to the unexpected large increase in Spalding. Last year that county returned $2,891,425. This year it is $3,119,889. An increase of $298,444

This year it is $3,119,889. An increase of $228,464.

So the total increase for the state on all property, except railroads, has been $32,548,031.

That's over 9 4-10 per cent.

Nothing like it was ever seen in Georgia be-

Nothing like it was ever seen in Georgia before; and going by percentage, Georgia will lead the increase column this year in the United States.

As to the railroads, which are not included in the aggregates given above, Georgia stood second in the union in the number of miles built from January 1, 1889, to January 1, 1890, For the half year, January 1 to July 1, 1890, Georgia led the United States in the number of miles of new road.

The showing is magnificent!

All things considered, the growth of Georgia for last year has no parallel in her own history, and probably not in the history of any southern state.

Pneumonia.

A person that is weak and debilitated assumes a very great risk if he fails to give a cold, be it ever so slight, immediate and quick attention. When the system of such a person becomes impregnated with a deep-seated cold, it is almost sure to result in pneumonia, a disease that is very nearly always fatal. The timely use of Smith's Tonic Syrup at the very beginning of a cold will check it at once. Its timely use has undoubtedly saved many lives. Its tonic properties are unexcelled, and its good on the circulatory system is felt at once, preventing congestion of the mucous membrane and blood vessels. It is the common sense treatment for malaria, chills and fever, colds, influenza, la grippe, etc., and is far superior to quinine in its action, never leaving any harmful after effect. It is the prescription of Dr. John Bull, of Louisville, in which city it is used almost universally. Any druggist will get you the remedy.

It is heavily timbered mountain land. A forest of the largest oak, hickory, poplar and chestnut timber to be found in the south. Is situated on the side of the mountain facing the railroad, and the timber is as accessible to the railroad as it is possible to be. On it there are hundreds of chestnut trees 100 feet high, and as straight as an arrow, and many poplar trees are twenty feet in circumference. The timber on the place will self for twice the price of the tract, and the land is very rich mountain land and produces well. Lumbermen from New York and Boston are buying large tracts in this vicinity for the northern market, and cross-tie timber is in great demand. It is immediately in the mineral belt, and no doubt has valuable mineral properties. It is well watered. The price of $3 per acre for such land so convenient to the market at Atlanta is very low. Property.

We wish to call your attention to an investment in a large tract of land on Howell's Mill road, which is offered at a low price for a few days only. It is right in the line of the many improvements already made and to be made between Atlanta and the river. It has a beautiful front of 3,000 feet on the road and lies well. Is just the right distance from the city at which to buy to get the best profit. Howell's Mill road has recently been changed from one of the roughest to the best road in Fulton county. Heavy cuts and fills have been made and the road splendidly paved. No objectionable features or surroundings. You can take this alone or a number of gentlemen can take it together. The price is far below what you can buy any other tract equally well situated, and the property is an unusually attractive one. It will pay you to call and get full particulars and inspect it. There is money to be made by acting promptly.

HIS BRIDAL TOUR.

DR. BASKERVILLE EXPLAINS HIZ TROUBLE IN NASHVILLE.

He Shot at a Burglar, or a Would-Be Assas-sin, and Was Arrested for Lunacy— His Bride's Fidelity.

Dr. Baskerville and bride are still in At-

And the doctor tells an interesting story that accounts for the strange reports published about his conduct in Nashville while on his way to meet his betrothed.

A dispatch published in yesterday's Con-STITUTION from Nashville gave an account of me serious trouble which Dr. Baskerville fell into while in that city. The dispatch stated that the doctor was arrested on suspicion of lunacy, and was fined $10 and costs for firing his pistol frantically from a hotel window. All in all the account showed the young man off to a great disadvantage, considering especially that he was on his way to figure at a clandestine and extremely

DR. BASKERVILLE EXPLAINS. "I am sorry that such an account of my little trouble should have been published,' said Dr. Baskerville in explanation to a Con-STITUTION representative last night. "As a matter of fact," he continued, "I did have a little trouble there, but it was not such as to warrant the sensational bosh that the Nashville papers published. I would like to straighten the story, for it's awfully humiliating to have the story thus painted up regardless of facts.

"I left Arkansas after a long attack of sickness, which left me in a terrible nervous state, and went to St. Louis, from which city I intended to take a trip for my health. I also decided to make arrangements for a clandes tine marriage between Miss White, who lived in Fayetteville, Tenn., and myself and thus et the trip be a bridal tour." A MEXICAN'S WRATH.

"On the train from Little Rock to St. Louis, I met a Mexican and a woman who I pre mined was his wife. He was a daring-look ng fellow, and I soon found that he tremely enraged at every look which his wife gave me on the trip. When she held a light for me to go to my berth at night his indignation and wrath knew no bounds, and I heard from several passengers on the train that he had sworn his intention to kill me, showing them a deadly knife with which he proposed to study my anatomy.

To tell you the truth, I was frightened.?
"So when I got to St. Louis, I hurried on to Nashville, meantime writing to my sweetheart to meet me the next day at Tullahoma on the way to Chattanooga, which she telegraphed me she would do.

"In Nashville I went to the Maxwell house I was sick and tired, so went to bed and slept the whole afternoon. That night, I lay down for a minute, but could not go to sleep. Presently I heard an unearthly noise in the closet, seemingly, and rang for a bell boy to unlock the door.

"When he came, however, and opened the door nothing suspicious of having made the noise was to be seen. But I couldn't sleep, for I knew that I had heard some one in the

"Getting up, I made a flaxseed plaster for a little sore on my arm and then lay down to Try to sleep again.

"Just as I was dozing half away, I was startled by a knock at the door, and I hurriedly asked who it was. To my inquiry, I only received response in another knock that seemed as if the fellow was determined to break the door and rush in on me.

"I grabbed my pistol, and stood with it cocked to shoot him if he did, for by this time I was convinced that it was the Mexican who had avowed his intention to carve my heart to sausage. But I rang the bell and the felow ran away.

"The night clerk and bell boy came up, and I told them what had happened, but they laughed at me.

"We looked out of the window, and down alongside the walls I could plainly see the form of what I thought was a man. I called for the police and a great crowd assembled in the street below, shouting, 'Where is the burglar?

Shoot him! etc.
"I didn't know but that it was a policeman who told me too shoot, so I banged away at the fellow. The crowd said, 'Shoot him again!'

"When I looked around I found two police-"When I looked around I found two policemen rushing into my room, and I was soon under arrest. They said they took me up for a maniac, and seemed to treat me as a bear, jerking me here and there like brutes. I spent that *night in the station house and not until the next day did I get out by paying a charge of ten and costs for shooting a pistol in the city limits, that being the only case they could bring against me.

I heard afterwards that the burglar, or who-

"I heard afterwards that the burglar, or whoever it was, had been seen coming down a telegraph pole from his perch, and I was justified in firing the shots at him.

"The Nashville papers published me as a lunatic, and the hotel clerk treated me like a dog, for all of which I intend to have vengeance if thelaw will give it.

"The next day I went to Tullahoma and there met my sweetheart. I told her all about it at once, but she said she put no faith in the newspaper stories, and was ready to follow me wherever I might go, so we came on to Atlanta and were married as your paper chronicled today."

Mr. Baskerville says he is a graduate of Tulane university in New Orleans, and is doing a good practice in medicine at Little

Wonders

Are wrought by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-turnished toilet.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming baid; but since using the Vigor my head is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing." – Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittston, Me.

"Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to this statement before a justice of the peace."—
H. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa.

"Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as n.y physicians ordered, but failed to procince a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists, and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I app was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the narket." -Vincent Jones, Richmond, Ind.

Plans and specification: may be seen at the office of the engineer in charge of the work, the right being reserved to reject any or all bids.

Work to be commenced as soon as possible after signing contract and pushed to completion.

FUZZLE: I say, old fellow, how do yer like me suit? bought it at Bang's misfit parlors. Great shape, isn't it? MUZZLE. It's the most successful case of misfit I ever saw.

We are manufacturers and merchants. Our reputation for both would be obliterated if we either produced or offered bad-fitting clothing for sale.

The low motive of policy and personal pride, if no other, would prevent our presenting any but perfect merchandise to this community.

Professional men and clerks of quiet tastes will appreciate the popularity of our Black Cheviot Suits. The reason is—there's nothing like them for quiet dignity.

Clothiers, generally, didn't get awake to Black Cheviot till the demand disturbed them. They didn't anticipate the turn. Everybody's quantity was short. We made a great many, but, in the scarcity surrounding us, not enough.

The new shapes in Fall Hats---Dunlap, Youman, Miller, Knox, Spellman, Taylor---are ready---new blocks. You pay only for the style. Nothing for the name. You save $1 to $2 on a Hat, and these world-known leaders get the fame they covet as being "governors of Hat fashions."
